Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

It is interesting to observe that President Roosevelt is promoting a "New World" peace pact at the convention of the North and South American government representatives in Buenos Ayres. This will probably fall short of the wide powers which, under President Wilson, were delegated to the League of Nations. We do not wish to be unduly pessimistic, but we would like some one to tell us, why, if the League of Nations fails, with its exceptionally wide powers of action, such as "sanctions" and even group military enforcement, how a similar organization of New World governments can hope to succeed.

By tradition and blood lines we are more closely in sympathy with the people of the British Empire than with any Latin Republic to the south. By historical association with France, French aid during the Revolution, French travel on the part of hundreds of thousands of American citizens, the influence of French thought in shaping our governmental pattern, notably through Thomas Jefferson, and in many other ways, we are more neighborly with France than with Mexico, our next door neighbor or any country farther south.

But we are not forming a defensive alliance with any European country, even though bound to some of them much more closely than we are with any South American republic. The World War perhaps, taught us the futility and the costliness of foreign entanglements. Our involvement, all told cost us 45 billion dollars. If we counted the cost of the depression, which resulted from our participation in that affair, as it ought to be counted, some 15 billions more should be added.

Any convention among a group of nations which proposes to preserve peace among themselves, or as against the attacks of other nations or groups of nations, must necessarily depend upon how willing all the participants are to muster forces, in air, on land and sea, to defend that peace. Peace may no more be maintained among a group of nations without an armed force instituted for maintaining that peace, than it can be maintained here in Nevada City without peace officers.

For a fair weather trade pact, a general lowering of the tariff barriers between the United States and the Latin republics to the south, the convention at Buenos Ayres should be very helpful. But peace between the Old World and the New or even among the countries signatory to any New World "New Deal" must depend upon the willingness of each signer of the covenant to surrender so much of their national liberties as will enable them to employ a common police force to act in case abritration fails.

One splendid result of the Pan-American conventions which have been held in the past and which seem to be culminating in something greater than ever before conceived in this Buenos Ayres meeting, is that all the countries to the south of us have ceased to regard the United States as the fearsome "Colossus of the North." To President Roosevelt's "good neighbor" policy is mainly due the vanquishment of this old, hateful bogey among the South Americans and the birth of a friendly feeling.

Even here we suspect, that, though the Roosevelt Administration has specifically disavowed the Monroe doctrine which constituted us the guardian of New World countries against encroachment of old world powers, the Latin Americans will be glad to have this arrangement continued under a new name. For whatever the new pact may be called, or however, it may be implemented, it is certain that the major burden of its maintainance will fall on your Uncle Sam.

The danger of foreign agression, European or Asiastic, grows year by year. Germany and Italy are both casting about for new worlds to conquer where they may export their surplus population. Japan is in the same position. Italy has won a place in the sun in Ethiopia, where, in years to come, a considerable population may find sustinance. Japan has Manchuria and that should suffice for a long time, though Manchuria had a fairly dense population before the Japanese conquest.

Both these events, along with the tremendous military preparation of European powers, must fill these sparsely populated countries below the equator with unease. President Roosevelt's plan comes at a time therefore, when it is specially acceptable from a psychological standpoint. Whether any New World pact will have any influence upon belligerent nations elsewhere will depend very largely upon the character of the pact, and the force, actual or potential which backs it up.

Hard Liquor Dealers Must Pay $250 Dec. 31

Russell B. Farley, county officer for the State Board of Equalization, states all holders of on-sale liquor licenses for distilled spirits must pay their license fee in a lump sum by January first. This means that every on-sale dispenser of hard liquor must, in Nevada county, have his license fee of $250 for the year, paid on the line by 6 o'clock, December 31, or else, the license will be refused.

Applications to all on-sale dealers in distilled spirits are now being mailed. These are applications for renewals. Farley states that under the ruling of the attorney general this license fee must be paid in a lump sum on the date mentioned above.

In the meantime a survey is being made of all liquor establishments in Nevada county to determine whether licensees are complying with all the regulations under the law. Applications for renewals of those who fail in this regard will be refused licenses whether they pay the fee or not.

COMMUNITY CHEST PLAN NEV. CITY SUBMITTED

Executives of the various chariable organizations of Nevada City will meet this evening at 8 o'clock to consider a plan for establishing a community chest. Some months ago the Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee, consisting of H. E. Kjorlie, chairman, W. F. Roddy and H. M. Leete to suggest a plan for it. The committee two weeks ago presented its plan to the chamber, it was approved, and the committee is now submitting it to the executives of the organizations which each year raise money by solicitation for charitable purposes.

TENTATIVE PLAN FOR COMMUNITY CHEST

Organization—It is suggested that the governing body of the Community Chest shall consist of the executive heads of each organization which annually solicits funds for charitable purposes.

(B) It is suggested that at the first meeting of this committee a chairman, vice-chairman, secretary, and treasurer to be elected for the year.

SUGGESTED DUTIES OF THE COMMITTEE

(A) To determine the amount of funds needed to care for the several organizations dependent upon the community chest.

(B) To decide upon a method of collecting the funds and to organize a campaign therefor.

(B) That pledge cards be used in the collection of contributions.

(C) That the pledge cards covering uncollected balances be distributed with the cash to the several participating organizations on the apportionment basis determined by the committee prior to the campaign.

(D) That the actual collections of the funds should be placed in the hands of a group of prominent citizens of Nevada City.

(E) On completion of the campaign the money collected be turned over to the treasurer or secretary of the Community Chest Committee.

Nevada City Rural Delivery Extended

Daily free delivery of mail for residents of the Red Dog road section has been accomplished by Postmaster Betty Martin West through her representation and application to Washington, D. C. News of the granting of the new route has just reached the Nevada City postmaster. Beginning December 16, 1936 the free delivery will begin on the new route, an extension of the present one, from Cemetery Corner to the Murchie Mine Junction, along the Red Dog Road. The new delivery will come in time for the homes along the route to receive and send their Christmas mail with great convenience. Renewed mining activities in the region of the Red Dog road have been responsible for many of the new homes, and increased population of the district. Mrs. West is pleased that she has been able to accede to the requests for full mail service to these new residents.

In addition to this extension of rural service, the Department has granted to the petitioners in the Selby Flat section rural service for the summer months. The extension circles Lake Vera through Selby Flat and service will be provided during the period of May 16 to September 15. Girls summer camps in the Lake Vera district will be benefitted particularly by the new service.

In order to receive the mail daily along the new routes, patrons must provide approved boxes of either the No. 1 or the No. 2 type. A list of manufacturers authorized to sell boxes for rural routes may be procured from the postmaster. Unless patrons do erect boxes for their mail, they cannot be granted the new rural service. The postmaster asks that these facilities be provided as soon as possible in time for the first delivery on December 16.

This improved service is evidence that the postoffice department is anxious to improve delivery for its patrons. City delivery for Nevada City would be considered gladly by the department if street improvements required for the delivery could be fulfilled, according to Mrs. West.

ROTARY ENJOYS TALK ON HAITI

Rotarians yesterday heard William Lee, Forest Service official of this city give a very interesting account of his experience in Haiti where he went as a federal engineer during the United States occupation of that island republic.

The Rotary club also heard the Community Chest plan outlined by H. M. Leete, member of a Chamber of Commerce committee consisting of H. E. Kjorlie, W. F. Roddy and himself, appointed to draw up such a plan. This plan has been approved by the Chamber of Commerce.

Preceeding his address Mr. Lee gave a brief historical sketch of Haiti. The island of Haiti was among those discovered by Columbus on his first voyage in 1492. The eastern two thirds of island belongs to the Domincan republic, with half the population that Haiti has on its third of the island area. Until 1804 it belonged to the French, who established great plantations and imported thousands of enslaved African negroes.

Following the insurrection under the black, Christophe, white civilization was fairly wiped out by the blacks who killed both whites and mulattos, a class in themselves, and the country reverted in a brief time to the original jungle. Mr. Lee stated that in running a line for the various highways, which the United States constructed while in occupation, a tunnel through the luxuriant vegetation would run up against a brick wall sometimes, overlaid with Roman tile, relic of one of the princely plantation homes that characterized the French regime.

The chief monetary unit of the republic is still called the "gourd", from the days when Christophe gathered all the gourds on the island and caused them to circulate as money. Gourds, as was shown by the moving picture of the island and its people, are still an all around utensil for carrying water and supplies.

Under the United States high commissioner, Gen. Smedley Butler, of the U. S. Marines, the islands entered upon a new era of construction and prosperity. Roads connecting the two halves of Haiti, until then parted by deep gorges and high mountains, were built. Irrigation systems were installed, telephone lines and in the cities better sewage facilities. The mountains of Haiti rise to between 9000 and 10,000 elevation. An excellent educational system was established, among a people who until that time were nearly 100 per cent illiterate. The climate, except for the rainy season, Mr. Lee declared is very enjoyable, especially in the summer.

The Latin I and II classes of the Nevada City high school under Miss Thelma Peterson, instructor, are giving a party at Seaman's lodge in Pioneer's Park this evening. It is in the nature of an international party and each pupil will be dressed in a foreign costume. About 75 are expected. Games and dancing will be enjoyed.

WASHINGTON ROAD APPROVED

District superintendent of the W. P. A. Fred T. Marsh has received notice that the proposed new road from the junction of the Tahoe-Ukiah highway to Washington has been approved and work on the road, to be built first as a single track road, will begin at once. W. P. A. will furnish part of the materials required, the amount to be determined by the quantity of materials furnished by the county. The road will be constructed on three units: first from Washington to the intersection of the new road with the present; second, from crossing of the present road with the proposed new road to the National Forest Service fire camp; and third from the fire camp to the Tahoe-Ukiah highway. The road will be widened to the full 22 foot size after its completion as a single track road.

BUSINESS WOMEN HEAR BELLE DOUGLASS

Chairman of the Research Committee, Miss Kathleen Greenway, was in charge of the meeting last night of the new Business and Professional Women's Club. The meeting was held at 8 o'clock at the office of Dr. W. P. Sawyer on Main street. Mrs. Belle Douglass spoke on the subject "Gold Country." The charter of the club is still open to eligible women to become charter members of the organization.

Wesley Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Perry, who has been in Utah during the summer and fall has returned to Nevada City to remain for the winter months.

Mrs. Katherine Celio has returned from the bay district where she visited relatives.

Roads That Think

You may have seen them while driving along one of California's broad highways of an evening after dark. You may have been startled, at first, as you approached a curve to see them there ahead lying like a string of Christmas tree lights along the center line in the road and extending the full distance around the curve.

But they were not Christmas tree lights, nor a line of fireflies on parade. They were the new reflecting buttons, or "eyes" marking the center of curves for night drivers. The Division of Highways is trying them out at scattered points, and if they prove practical, we'll have them on all the sharper bends in the highway.

Already the consensus of opinion seems to be that they are a success. But there are matters to consider besides their efficiency. First, the cost. Painted center lines, you know, cost about $25 a mile. These reflector buttons cost from $150 for the smallest, to $450 a mile. And the maintenance cost will be considerable, since at one test location half the buttons were broken or missing after two months.

So there the matter rests, still in the experimental stage. But one thing is certain. All the knowledge and skill in the whole science of highway engineering is being applied to give us "smart roads for dumb drivers," and for additional safety to wiser ones.

Someday these "thinking" modern highways will do all but shift gears and steer our cars for us.—Contributed.

Host To Trailbuilders

California will be host, next week, to the trailbuilders of modern America.

From every ste in the nation will come the men who control, supervise, and administer the building of the highways, the 432,282 miles of state roads upon which 25,000,000 automobiles are annually operated.

They will come as delegates to the annual convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials, to be held in San Francisco December 7 to 10.

If you think for a moment that these are not important guests, you might ponder this astonishing fact. One tenth of the national income—that is, one tenth of all pay rolls, of all gross earnings, of all dividends, of all profits of all the industries of the country, spring from the automobile and its use on the highways.

It is fitting that these men have chosen California as their convention spot this year. If they have time they may view, in this state, the finest, most extensive and expensive network of highways in the world. There are more than 77,000 miles of them, they have cost us around a billion dollars, and the 2,280,485 vehicles they carry are more than in any other state save the much more populous New York.

Let's hope that they have a successful convention, that they like the way California does things, and that when they go back they'll tell the world about it.—Contributed.

Bum Blockade Collapse

Collapse, last week, of the "bum blockade" plan in which several southern counties were to cooperate in turning back indigent transients, leaves that problem right where it has been all along.

The whole idea of blockades between states is still unconstitutional.

It is unconstitutional, in fact, in more ways than that indicated by the Los Angeles county attorney when he ruled the new plan out because the county is not authorized by law to cooperate with other counties in such matters. They are to wait, now, "until necessary authority can be received from the state legislature." It will be a long wait.

Brief perusal of the Constitution of the United States discloses, in Article IV, Section 2, a clause reading, "The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states." The legislature is going to have quite a time trying to hurdle that and the Bill of Rights in one leap.

Not that the hordes of homeless flocking to California every winter are no problem at all. They are. Much as we might like to, we cannot afford to support them. But if blockades are unconstitutional, they are unconstitutional, and we might as well begin looking for some other way out.

Apparently the solution can come only through Federal action. The government some time ago discontinued transient relief. A demand on Washington by California officials and civic bodies that it reassume this obligation, and meet the problem on a fair and humane basis, might bring results.—Contributed.

BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY AT EVANGELINE CHAPTER

S., of Nevada City held installation of officers Tuesday evening in Masonic Hall, all officers conducting their work in a most impressive manner. The installing officers were, Miss Kate Eddy, retiring past matron, assisted by Mrs. Lyda Talbot, marshal, and Mrs. Edith Davey, honorary marshal.

District Deputy Matron Elizabeth Leiter of the Eight District, also a member of Evangeline Chapter, was present as visiting officer.

Those installed for the ensuing term were: Helen Berger, Worthy Matron; Joseph Stenger, Worthy Patron; Alice Davies, Associate Matron; Walter Carlson, Associate Patron; Catherine Celio, Conductress; Ruth Tamblyn, Associate Conductress; Alice Cooper, secretary; Kafe Stenger, treasurer; Virginia O'Neill, warder; Annie Sherman, sentinel; Katie Eddy, marshal, Lyda Talbot, chaplain; Maude Hayes, organist. The Star Points are: Adah, Esther Tremaine; Ruth, Lois Eden; Esther, Irene Barron; Martha, May nell; Electa, Bernice Penrose. Flag bearer, Anna Peterson. Mrs. Berger has chosen Mrs. Margaret Bosworth as soloist for the coming year. She sweetly sang two solos during installation service and was accompanied by Pauline Matteson of Grass Valley.

Red poinsettas, wild fern fronds and evergreen boughs were used to decorate the chapter room to carry out a Christmas theme. It never looked more beautiful. A large arch was built over the matrons and patrons seats and pedestals placed about the room. Many tiny electric lights gleamed among the poinsettas, and evergreens on the arch. The decorating committee consisted of Lois Tice, Bertha Ross, Joe Wilhoite, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ecke of Encinitis near San Diego, and friends of Mrs. Tice, sent the five dozen immense poinsettas as a gift to the chapter.

The committee in the banquet hall were, Miss Katie Eddy, Mrs. W. V. Tamblyn, Mrs. Mae Curnow, Mrs. J. Roesner, Alive Davies, Mrs. Jack Eddy, sister-in-law of Miss Eddy, and daughter of Colfax, made the celophane flowers and candle sticks that formed a large part of the decorations. Purple chrysanthemums and greens were also used on the tables.

A large number attended, including a number of visitors from Grass Valley.

LUMBER TALKS

When Opportunity came here to look us over
And walk awhile beside us, to and fro,
We grasped his streaming forelock with decision,
Tightened our grip and would not let him go.
"All right," he said, "you sturdy gravel miners
Have suffered most outrageous knocks and slams.
If you insist, I'll settle down among you
And help you build those big hydraulic dams.

MINERS FOUNDRY MAKES ORE CARS; BUILDS MILLS

While the mining continues at a steady stride for the winter, the Miners Foundry of Nevada City is engaged in one of the busiest seasons in several years with 25 men employed.

A steady demand continues for their special ore car designed by E. S. Edinger, a member of the firm. Between 25 and 30 ore cars are being built and turned out each month. They are being shipped all over the Pacific Coast. Besides local sales, orders come from the Nevada, Idaho, Arizona, Oregon and far away Alaska. Three ore cars were shipped to the Suffolk mine Wednesday.

Besides the ore cars another industry has sprung up that is little known even in this city, constructing and installing rod mills for mining properties.

A list of these mills follows: Installation of a 50 ton mill was made on the Hagar-Rolfing property at Forest Hill and it started operations yesterday.

A 60 ton mill went to the Gold Company Ltd., at Garden Valley; an 80 ton unit was sold the T. W. A. mill at Auburn, work being completed on this 60 days ago. The company is making installation of a 35 ton mill at Gold Lake, Sierra county, for the Sisson Mining Company.

The foundry shipped and installed complete equipment including mill, ore bins and classifier to J. K. Wadley who is mining near Winnemucca, Nevada.

The Miners Foundry, a substantial firm known for quality and service, was founded in 1852 on Spring street about where the Builders Supply Company and company garage are now located. One of the big fires the city suffered destroyed most of this plant and it was rebuilt in 1860 on the present site.

A few years ago on elderly man who had been away from Nevada City many years visited the foundry. He stated he worked in the plant as a young man and remembered when 20 men were employed in making the large hydraulic pipe used by the hydraulic miners in this district, when the whole territory was dotted here and there with monitors.

USE XMAS SEALS GENEROUSLY AND AID T. B. VICTIMS

In an appeal to all Nevada county residents to support, through the purchase of holiday seals, the campaign against tuberculosis and its menace, Judge George L. Jones, president of the Nevada County Tuberculosis association, writes:

"Tuberculosis is still the greatest cause of death in California between the ages of 15 and 45 years, although this disease can be prevented and all early cases can be cured.

"With the co-operation of local physicians of each community and the school nurses, the Nevada County Tuberculosis Association this year carried on the tuberculin testing and X-ray surveys of all high school students in the county. Many students who were infected with the germs of tuberculosis and needed protection against further exposure to the disease were discovered, and several cases needing careful medical supervision. The follow-up nursing program brought to light many hidden unsuspected cases of tuberculosis, thereby bringing these to treatment and preventing the spread of their infection to others.

"The generosity of residents in Nevada county made possible this program, which resulted in the saving of human life and suffering, as well as thousands of dollars which would need to have been spent for treatment were these cases not discovered until they had reached the advanced stages of the disease.

"But this work is not yet finished. New cases constantly spread their infection through the community. Only by continued vigilance can we hope to eradicate tuberculosis."

"Everyone will profit by this county-wide campaign. Protection of all residents of this county from tuberculosis is our aim. Generous help is needed if we are to be successful.

"The Seals are $1.00 a sheet.

"Please use them generously on Christmas mail and holiday packages to help spread this message to others."

SPRING CREEK CAMP FEEDS 170 IDLE SERA MEN

State Ranger William F. Sharp, when asked about men for his camp south of the Nevada City city limits, stated the buildings are empty, and he is without a man this month, but there are 170 men in the SERA or Spring Creek Unemployment Camp near Columbia Hill. In past seasons Mr. Sharp's crews have done a lot of work on roads and various state improvement work in short working hours, but at this camp the men are idle.

If he had been able to call these men on the fire lines last week they would have been controlled much earlier with far less damage done, but he has no authority to call them.

E. A. Johnson is superintendent of the camp and would be glad to see the men gainfully employed. Mr. Sharp said he saw one man at the camp that was at the Nevada City camp when it first started. Evidently these transient unemployed keep in close touch with relief camps.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 3.—Studies toward speeding start of actual construction on the Central Valleys Water Project are being made by the board of consulting appraisers now in session.

The board, working out of Sacramento, is visiting Friant and Contra Costa divisions of the project where negotiations are under way to settle property and water rights, Walker R. Young, chief engineer, said. These negotiations must be completed before any construction can be started, he said.

The board, in session since December 18, is composed of Curtis Walker, Washington, D. C., appraisal expert; B. A. Etcheverry of Berkeley and F. C. Herrmann of San Francisco.

The project's board of consulting engineers is scheduled to meet in Sacramento December 15 to go over various phases of the engineering problems. They are expected to hear a report on the results of surveys, now virtually complete, on the Kennett division.

An effort to clean up the civil service tangle and definitely remove merit jobs from politics will be made when the state legislature convenes in January. Several groups are drafting bills which would eliminate obsolete provisions of old civil service laws, bringing the regulations up to date and in line, both in word and spirit, with the constitutional civil service act.

The state personnel board has announced the following civil service examinations: December 19, veterinary meat inspector; January 2nd, institution atilor, women only; student dental interne; January 9th field assistant in plant pathology.

The state railroad commission has authorized the Sacramento Northern Railway to operate a passenger bus schedule between Sacramento, Oroville and Chico in a coordinated service with its trains. The company was excluded, however, from carrying passengers by stage between Sacramento and Marysville. Pacific Greyhound Lines was authorized to conduct a stage service between Red Bluff and Roseville, via Marysville and Chico.

A state textbook budget approximately 50 per cent greater than for the current biennium will be sought for the next two years by the state department of education. Textbook supplies have become depleted and many of the books in use are obsolete the department says. The appropriation to be sought is $1,140,211. Practically all of the state textbooks are printed in the state printing plant.

Re-enactment of the in lieu motor vehicle tax, which expires December 31, 1937, faces the legislature at its next session and is expected to bring a real battle before the question is settled. Under the tax act, cities receive 15 per cent of the tax, counties 12 1-2 per cent, the department of motor vehicles 1 per cent for collection and the remainder goes into the general fund.

Governor Frank F. Merriam and members of his executive council were entertained by Sacramento Chamber of Commerce Monday at a dinner following their regular monthly meeting in the state capitol. The governor declared his policy of centralizinz headquarters of state departments in Sacramento is for the "efficiency and benefit of California." He said the concentration movement will continue.

Residents of the Sacramento valley have been invited to attend the official opening of the new motor vehicle department building here December 28 by Ray Ingels, director of the department. The $525,000 structure is the first of two new buildings adjacent to the capital grounds to be opened. The public works building will be completed sometime in January.

Merging of activities for the blind, now carried on by the department of institutions, department of social welfare and department of education, is being considered. There are now 4550 persons drawing old-age assistance from the state-federal fund. The October cost of this aid was $1,744,201, an average of $31,-45 a person. Only nine Civil War veterans are left in the Yountville State Veterans Home. The total enrolment is 2,141, directors reported at the capitol.

A public campaign to reduce the holiday season traffic toll has been urged by Chief E Raymond Cato of the California Highway Patrol. He said there is an annual increase in accidents during the holiday season, terming December as "a dangerous month for pedestrians and automobile operators"

Employers may come to the aid of retail store employees and sponsor a five and one-half day work law in the state legislature this season. Rumor of this movement reached the capitol this week. The California Retailers association are interested in the idea, Manager Vincent Kennedy said. He said the legislation he has in mind would not permit a slash in pay to make up for the reduction in hours of labor.

PET DOG MAKES OFF WITH MAIL SACK

CAMPTONVILLE, Dec. 3.—A pet dog in Indian Valley did not realize how near he came to being in the coils of the sheriffs office, the post office inspector and perhaps even the G-men. A short time ago the mail sack from the Indian Valley Service Station, which is hung from a pole for the early morning stage, was missing. Believing it to have been stolen, the matter was reported to the sheriff, who in turn reported it to the postal authorities. A second sack was used and the succeeding morning it was missing. Later that day a dog was noticed playing with something which happened to be the second mail sack, a search in the vicinity discovered the first sack with the mail still in it. The officers were called off and the dog scolded, and now the mail goes and comes as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. John Darke spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Rinaldo Ronchi of Folsom and enjoyed a turkey dinner with them in celebration of the wedding anniversaries of both Mr. and Mrs. Darke and Mr. and Mrs. Ronchi.

Miss Marguerite Burns Weds Louis Marquardt

CAMPTONVILLE, Dec. 3.—Louis Marquardt and Miss Marguerite Burns, both of this place were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Fred Fowler at Oak Valley, Judge Acton M. Cleveland performing the ceremony.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. John Burns of Alameda and has resided in this vicinity during the past two years, being the last of the family of five to marry.

The groom is a native of this community residing in the Mill Creek section, and having taken an active part in local activities. He served in the army during the war, spending several months in the battle fields of France. He spent most of his time farming and cattle raising, and during the past few years has operated the school bus from Mill Creek to town.

The ceremony took place at eight o'clock amid a circle of relatives and friends. The bride was given by her father, John Burns, and the couple was attended by the bride's sister, Genera Hessler, and the groom's nephew, Don Humphrey. The bride was attired in a green silk crepe dress.

Following the ceremony congratulations were in order, after which a delightful buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. Fowler. The following friends and relatives were present at the wedding: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Turner, Jack Kennady, Kenneth Schurr, Don Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fowler, Kenneth Fowler, John Burns, Geneva Hessler, Barbara Hessler.

Miss Hattie Pivoda and Hubert Long Married

CAMPTONVILLE, Dec. 3.—As a sprprise to their many friends, Hubert Long and Miss Hattie Pivoda, both of Oakland were married last Saturday at Reno. Although the young couple had been going together for quite some time, they had not indicated that they intended marrying at this time so the wedding came as a surprise.

Although residents of Oakland, the young couple were widely known in this section. The groom is a son of Mrs. Vivian L. Long of Oakland, formerly superintendent of schools of Plumas county, and a sister to Mrs. J. E. Pauly of this place. He has spent much time of the past several years both in visiting and working here. He formed a large circle of friends and has been a popular young man in the community. The bride spent part of last summer visiting here.

The young couple spent a few days here last week honeymooning. They left Saturday for Mohawk where they will reside, the groom having a position there.
